Welcome

Whether you're taking classes, visiting campus for an orientation session or touring the UW for the first time, this guide highlights summer music, festivals and local attractions for both newcomers and Seattle residents. Explore Pike Place Market while visiting the city for the first time. Take a road trip to the Warped Tour concert with friends to get away from campus. If you're spending the night here for orientation, use our dining guide to pick a local restaurant and get a feel for the Ave. For current students, we hope this guide helps you take advantage of what the city has to offer during the next few months. For those new to the UW, The Daily will keep you up to date on campus news each quarter, and we'd like to introduce ourselves by being your guide to summer in Seattle.

MUSIC FESTIVALS

BY REBECCA LEE The Daily

CAPITOL HILL BLOCK PARTY
Friday 7/23 to Saturday 7/25
East Pike Street and 12th Avenue
Bus route: 49

The Capitol Hill Block Party showcases 60 Northwest and national independent bands on three stages, right in the heart of the Capitol Hill neighborhood. They also feature independent craft booths, local non-profits, and raise money for The Vera Project and KEXP radio station. Advance tickets will be available until July 23 at thestranger.com/blockparty3daypass or tickets can be bought on the day of the show. Some headliners include MGMT, Atmosphere, Blue Scholars, and the Dead Weather.

Music fans congregate at last year’s Capitol Hill Block Party.

BUMBERSHOOT
Saturday 9/4 to Monday 9/6 (Labor Day Weekend)
Seattle Center
Bus route: 30

Seattle’s Music & Arts Festival is celebrating its 40th festival and has assembled a lineup that showcases artists from the past 40 years. Music fans from across generations will be able to enjoy everything from music icons to contemporary artists. Some of the artists in the lineup are Bob Dylan, Mary J. Blige, and Weezer. Three-day passes and single-day tickets are available online, and tickets can be bought at the gate as well. Unlike in previous years, the festival will offer the Bumbershoot Economy Ticket, which excludes access to the main stage, for a reduced admission price.

NO DEPRESSION
Saturday 8/21
Marymoor Park located off SR520 in Redmond at the West Lake Sammamish Parkway exit

The No Depression Festival is an annual, one-day music festival at Marymoor Park. The festival features some of the best Americana and indieroots artists around. This year’s lineup includes the Swell Season, Lucinda Williams, Cave Singers, Punch Brothers, Alejandro Escovedo, Chuck Prophet, and Sera Cahoone. Advance tickets are $45, or $50 on the day of the show.

VANS WARPED TOUR
Saturday 8/14
754 Silica Road NW, George, Wash.

The Warped Tour is an annual touring music and extreme-sports festival. Held at the Gorge Amphitheatre, the festival hosts several stages where more than 80 bands will be performing. The tour started out as a showcase for punk-rock music, but its recent lineups have had more diversified genres. Performing this year are Sum 41, Everclear, and the Alkaline Trio.

OUT-TO-LUNCH CONCERT SERIES
Friday 6/18 to Friday 9/3
Downtown

Out-to-Lunch music series is an annual Seattle event that showcases two-dozen bands at outdoor venues all across downtown. Performances are every Wednesday and Friday from noon to 1:30 p.m., and the various locations on each day can be found at downtownseattleevents.com/otl/. It’s a great way to experience downtown in the summer for free.

Pilgrimage to well-known Seattleites' homes and grave sites

Bruce Lee's and Brandon Lee's graves located in Lakeview Cemetery.

QIXIU HU / THE DAILY

SANG CHO / THE DAILY

The block of 13th Avenue East where President Barack Obama once lived.

They are famous not only in Seattle, but throughout the world.

They all lived in this city, and some of them died and were buried here.

Kurt Cobain, Jimi Hendrix, Bruce Lee and even President Barack Obama all lived in Seattle — some longer than others — and their former homes and current graves can make an interesting day trip for those most curious about getting a glimpse of what their lives were like in the Pacific Northwest.

Whether you are a devoted fan of their work, or simply looking for something to do on a sunny afternoon, these four famous Seattleites provide insight into Seattle's history of local stars.

BY ALLEN WAGNER The Daily

Kurt Cobain's home

171 Lake Washington Boulevard E., Seattle, Wash.

Cobain's house on Lake Washington Boulevard East has become a pilgrimage site for fans and devotees of Nirvana and the grunge-music movement.

His Madrona home is perhaps most famous for being the place where he committed suicide, but it has become a symbol of the many ups and downs of the grunge era.

The house — which faces the shores of Lake Washington from Seattle — is not public property. It does have an owner, and a wooden fence blocks the driveway. So if you decide to visit, you probably won't be able to enter, but just next to the house is a park bench and tree that receives visitors year round — with people carving their names and comments in the bench and taking time to reflect.

Cobain and Nirvana changed the music landscape in the early 1990s, and by visiting this off-beat Seattle attraction, you can relive this era's highs and lows while paying your respects to one of the biggest music superstars of the '90s.

Jimi Hendrix's grave site

Greenwood Memorial Park, 350 Monroe Ave. NE, Renton, Wash.

Hendrix's childhood home in Renton "allowed visitors to imagine the poverty and simple beginnings of one of rock 'n' roll's greatest musicians," according to The Seattle Times. But the 100-year-old house where Hendrix first began his love for music was demolished last year by the city.

Good thing his father, James Hendrix, purchased a family plot and created a memorial in his son's honor.

It's been nearly 40 years since Hendrix died in London, but his music continues to captivate and inspire those who listen, and for fans of his music, the Jimi Hendrix Memorial should make for a relaxing and reflective afternoon.

The memorial features a granite dome with Hendrix's signature on each of the three pillars that support the dome. Hendrix's grave stone sits in the center, with several family grave stones surrounding it.

It's a bit of a drive out to Renton, but fans of his music shouldn't miss the opportunity to make the trip to pay respects to the Seattle-area legend.

Bruce Lee's grave site

Lake View Cemetery, 1554 15th Ave. E., Seattle, Wash.

Compared to Hendrix's grave site, the site of Lee and his son Brandon Lee at Lake View Cemetery in Capitol Hill, is a simple affair. Two headstones, one for Bruce and one for Brandon, sit next to each other in the lush-green cemetery and offer a place for people to think about the legacy of one of the most influential martial artists in history.

Bruce attended the University of Washington from 1961 to 1964 and is probably the most recognizable superstar to come out of the UW, making films and influencing a generation of budding martial artists. He not only went to school here, but opened one of his first martial arts schools on the Ave and even met his wife here.

No wonder UW students have tried — unsuccessfully so far — to create the Bruce Lee Community Peace Garden. But until such a garden gets built at the UW, the closest place to channel the energy and dedication of Bruce Lee will be his grave site in Capitol Hill, just a short bus ride away from campus.

Barack Obama's neighborhood

500 block of 13th Avenue East, Seattle, Wash.

Stanley Ann Dunham enrolled at the University of Washington during the same time that Bruce Lee was studying drama and philosophy here, but it was her son who would end up making a bigger name for the family.

President Obama's mother moved to a Capitol Hill apartment home on the 500 block of 13th Avenue East just months after the future president was born. Having lived in the Seattle area when she was little, she made this city her and her son's home for a short time, until she divorced Barack Obama Sr. in 1964.

Official records show that Obama lived at 516 13th Ave. E. #202, but the building in question no longer exists. If you want to take a look at the neighborhood where Obama lived when he was a baby, look no further than Capitol Hill.

Ride the Ducks

516 Broad St.

If you're new to Seattle or just need a refresher, the "Ride the Duck" tour is a somewhat-nontraditional tourist trip, starting on wheels and ending with a jaunt across Lake Union, all in the same vehicle. The duck will take you past the Space Needle, the waterfront, Safeco and Qwest Fields, Pioneer Square, Pike Place Market, downtown and Fremont, then through the water past Gas Works Park and the Sleepless in Seattle houseboat. Make sure to arrive 30 minutes early to purchase tickets. And, for an extra $2, you can buy a "Wacky Quacker" (a noisemaker in the shape of a duck) to irritate all the Seattleites within a 50-foot radius of the vehicle. Monday to Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday to Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Waterfront Activities Center

3900 Montlake Boulevard NE

For only $5 an hour on weekdays and $6 an hour on weekends, students can try their hand at rowing or canoeing. Take advantage of the clear and sunny summer days in Seattle by exploring Lake Washington and Union Bay at the UW's waterfront with a group of friends, or maybe someone you just met at orientation. Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Movies at the Mural

305 Harrison St.

For three weekends in August, Seattleites can take a trip to the mural at Seattle Center to enjoy an outdoor theater similar to a drive-in movie theater. Bring a chair or blanket, or simply sit on the grass, and watch movies like The Princess Bride, the first two Twilight movies and Star Trek. The best part? It's all free. Each movie starts at dusk (or at about 9 p.m.).

Saturday, August 7 – The Princess Bride

Saturday, August 21 – Twilight

Sunday, August 22 – The Twilight Saga: New Moon

Saturday, August 28 – Star Trek

Concerts at the Mural

305 Harrison St.

For those seeking to explore the vast and interesting Seattle music scene, Concerts at the Mural are the perfect place to start. Popular Seattle radio station KEXP 90.3 has teamed up with the Seattle Center to offer free concerts every Friday in August, with a free barbecue on Saturday, August 14. Like Movies at the Mural, seating is first-come, first-serve, and blankets and chairs are recommended for seating. Though the lineup has not been released, be sure to check back at either KEXP or Seattle Center's websites for the announcement.

Seattle Space Needle

400 Broad St.

The Space Needle's website says it best: "the view (almost) never sleeps." This must-see Seattle attraction is lit up with life — and fireworks — on July 4, providing passers-by with a reason to stop in. The annual observation-deck Fourth of July Party begins at 9:15 p.m. and ends at midnight. Your $40 ticket grants you more than just entrance onto the observation deck. Access to dessert, games and giveaways are among these added bonuses. Entertainers have been known to make appearances; Lady Liberty and Uncle Sam, as well as a caricaturist and face painter ensure that guests are fully occupied in the hours leading up to the fireworks. Monday to Thursday 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Friday to Sunday 9 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Bill Speidel's Underground Tour

608 First Ave.

Bill Speidel's Underground Tour is an experience that can be shared by those of all ages. Speidel is a class of '36 University of Washington alumnus. The tour offers a look at subterranean passages that once functioned as roads before the Great Seattle Fire of 1889. The city rebuilt its roads one story higher after the fire, creating the city's entombed

"underground." May through September: Monday to Sunday hourly, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Pike Place Market

85 Pike St.

If you're looking for a place founded on social connectivity, consider Pike Place Market your ideal spot for the summer. You're almost guaranteed street-corner performances and cooking demos, as well as some demonstrations of how to toss fish successfully. General facilities: Monday to Saturday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Coffee and tea

Cafe Allegro
4214 University Way NE
Monday to Friday, 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Saturday, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Sunday, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Along with live music every Friday evening, Allegro also offers one of the most popular study spots for students who would rather not waste away in Odegaard. While the front room of the cafe is fairly social, the back room is for the more studious crowd. Treat yourself to a white mocha or Mexican mocha — you won't be disappointed.

Cafe Solstice

4116 University Way NE
Monday to Thursday, 6:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Friday, 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Saturday, 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Sunday, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.
For the rare nice days in Seattle, Solstice offers great outdoor seating with a patio out back for the more private conversationalists and out front for the avid people-watchers. Along with coffee, sandwiches and pastries, Solstice also serves alcoholic beverages for those over 21.

Ugly Mug Cafe

1309 NE 43rd St.
Monday to Friday, 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.
Revered for its quality service and delicious sandwiches, Ugly Mug is a relatively small, hidden cafe on 43rd. If you're hungry and jonesing for some caffeine, this is your place. Rated No. 1 for coffee in the U-District on Yelp, it's clear that the Ugly Mug is a popular choice of the college-age masses.

Yunnie Bubble Tea

4511 University Way NE
Monday to Sunday, 11 a.m. to midnight
UW students voted Yunnie the "best place to get bubble tea" in The Daily's dining edition, and for good reason: The shop offers a lounging area, fireplace, games and some downright-quality bubble tea. If you're not in the mood for tea, however, you can always try the frozen yogurt.

Oasis Tea Zone

4508 University Way NE
Monday to Saturday, 11 a.m. to midnight
Sunday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.
In a convenient place on the Ave (right off 45th), Oasis offers spacious upstairs and downstairs seating as well as a variety of flavors and styles of drink. Choose between milk tea, smoothies, slushies and "snow," as well as snack food like crêpes and popcorn chicken.

WOW Bubble Tea

4553 University Way NE
Monday to Saturday, 1 p.m. to midnight
Like Yunnie, WOW has a fun atmosphere, with board games and TVs available for entertainment. Many students rave about their more inventive teas, including the green-tea avocado-flavored drink.

University Teriyaki

Price: $
4108 University Way NE
Monday to Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Specializing in all forms of teriyaki, as well as an extensive menu of traditional Korean dishes, University Teriyaki offers its customers some of the biggest bang-for-your-buck portions in town. With spacious seating areas as well as a frozen-yogurt takeout window, U.T. provides the full casual dining experience.
Recommended Dish: Anything on the Korean menu; chicken teriyaki/General Tso's chicken combo

Schultzy's Sausage

Price: $$
4114 University Way NE
Monday to Friday, 7 a.m. to midnight.
Saturday, 8 a.m. to midnight
Sunday, 9 a.m. to midnight
Didn't get Husky football tickets? Don't have that premium cable channel you need to watch the big away game? Schultzy's is your answer. This is one of the best places in the U-District to watch major sporting events with a lively crowd while choking down a great burger or sausage.
Recommended dish: Sausage sandwich or El Diablo

Pho Than Brothers

Price: $
4207 University Way NE
Monday to Sunday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.
One of the earlier restaurants in Seattle to introduce the city to the delicious Vietnamese style of soup, Pho Than Brothers has set the standard for the pho experience. For as little as $5, you can enjoy a bountifully sized bowl of various meat and vegetable soup combinations that comprise the pho-only menu.
Recommended dish: Any type of pho

Thai Tom

Price: $
4543 University Way NE
Monday to Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Sunday, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.
Often regarded as one of the best places to get Thai food in Seattle, as well as the best restaurant on the Ave, Thai Tom defines "hole in the wall." However, you shouldn't allow the cramped quarters to deter you from enjoying a deliciously authentic Thai dining experience. Expect to see a long line stretching outside the restaurant when dropping by during peak meal times; that should tell you just how desirable the food is.
Recommended dish: Panang curry or Pad Thai

Agua Verde Cafe & Paddle Club

Price: $$
1303 NE Boat Street
Monday to Friday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
Sunday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Many restaurants in the University District can boast that they have great food, but few can give patrons a killer view to boot. At first glance, the menu may seem like your typical Mexican offerings, but your first bite into a delectable mahi mahi enchilada will make you think otherwise. Perfect for lunch on a laid-back sunny day.
Recommended Dish: Any of the nightly specials

Free Agents Program

The free agent program assists in helping individuals to become participants on teams. If you have an interest in a particular activity, please come to the IMA Programs Office and sign up on the Free Agents Roster. Individuals on the Free Agents Roster are encouraged to attend the team captains'/participants' meeting for their activity.

Sports Officials Needed

(Soccer and Softball)

Intramural Sports Officials are vitally important to the success of our Intramural Sports Program. Intramural officiating is a great way to develop strong leadership characteristics, learn new skills, improve one's self confidence, and earn money. Previous officiating experience is preferred, but not required. Training clinics are scheduled for each sport to help teach rules, mechanics, procedures, and responsibilities. Individuals may both officiate and play in the same sport. Students interested in officiating should plan to attend all of the appropriate clinics. All clinics will be held in the IMA.

Pay rates: Soccer, $8.80/game; Softball, $10.00/game. Training is provided.

Getting festive in Seattle

A guide to summer festivals in and around the Emerald City

BY ALYSSA STOUT The Daily

Seafair 2010

June 26 to August 8 - throughout the Seattle area

Seafair, a summer-long series of shows, parades and marathons, keeps the party going for people of all ages. Highlighted events are mentioned below. Visit seafair.com for more information.

Seattle Pride Festival

June 27 - Seattle Center - Downtown Seattle

Produced by Seattle Out and Proud, the pride parade features a mix of floats and costumes in celebration of diversity and equal human rights.

The parade starts at 11 a.m. at Westlake Park and travels down Fourth Avenue to PrideFest at the Seattle Center. The festival features food, entertainment, dance and drinks, with thousands of people filling Seattle Center.

July 4th Celebrations

July 4 - Various locations

If you are in Seattle this July 4, be sure not to miss the Chase Family Fourth fireworks display. Watch the fireworks show on Lake Union with a view of the Seattle skyline in the background. Festivities begin at noon at Gas Works Park, and the pyrotechnics commence at 10 p.m.

If you are travelling to the Eastside, there is another fireworks show in downtown Bellevue. Enjoy Bellevue Downtown Park with music and entertainment followed by fireworks at 10 p.m. Festival hours are from 4 to 10:30 p.m.

Seattle Chamber Music Society Summer Festival

July 5 to 30 - Benaroya Hall - Downtown Seattle WA
